Re: United States v. Carlos Reyes
12 Cr. 739 (KMK)
VOSR #2

Dear Judge Karas:

This letter is to request respectfully that the Court modify the CJA Order assigning me to this matter to include a nunc pro tunc date of September 10, 2019. The eVoucher administrators has advised us that this is necessary in order to process my request for payment.

I represented defendant Carlos Reyes per a CJA assignment in the above case. The matter began on September 10, 2019, with the filing by Probation of a violation petition and request for a summons. Because the violation was based largely on pending state charges, Reyes did not appear in court until November 20, 2019, when the state charges were resolved. He entered an admission to three of the specifications on December 10, 2019, and was sentenced that day to 6 months incarceration.

On November 20, 2019, Margaret Shalley stood in for me and Judge Davison entered an order assigning me to the case, but did not include a nunc pro tunc date to account for work I had done on the matter beginning on September 10, 2019. (A court date before Your Honor was originally set for September 16, but Reyes did not appear owing to his arrest and detention in Dutchess County on state charges. No order assigning me to this matter was entered that day). That work included discussions with Reyes and a number of calls to the Probation Officer to monitor Reyes' state case, as well as the review of the violation papers.
